

GENEVA URBAN DEBATE

Post-covid Economic & Financial Recovery: What about the City?

ONLINE EVENT

28 June 2021
13:30 - 15:30 CEST

Cities are at the core of the recovery process in response to the Covid crisis. Learning from their experience is an opportunity to work towards a resilient and sustainable urban future.

The "Global Compendium of Practices on Local Economic and Financial Recovery" has been produced by UN-HABITAT and its partners to document an overview of the measures cities in all regions undertook to face the economic downfall caused by the public health crisis:

- What are the key characteristics that enable cities to be resilient?
- What lessons can be drawn from the experiences of local leaders who are on the front-line during the pandemic?
- How can the international community help cities to recover better?

Local governments will share their experiences and initiatives to respond to this multifaceted crisis.

English/Russian interpretation will be available.

Presentation of the Global Compendium

- Mr Esteban Leon, UN-Habitat, Chief, City Resilience Global Program

Interactive Panel

- Mr Juan Valle Robles, UNECE, introducing Mr Maksatbek Sazykulov, Vice Mayor of Bishkek City, Kyrgyzstan
- Ms Tamara Nikolic, World Bank, Europe and Central Asia, Urban Resilience and Land, and Mr Marjan Nikolov, Center for Economic Analysis (CEA), introducing Ms Marina Jandrevska, Representative from Municipality of Kisela Voda, City of Skopje, North Macedonia
- Ms Rosa Surinach, introducing Ms Gabriela Uchoa, Director of Urban Resilience Programme in the Municipality of Teresina, Brazil
- Ms Helena Monteiro, UNDRR, and a Representative of London, the United Kingdom

Model of Recovery Scheme

For this 3rd Geneva Urban Debate, the organizers envisage to offer a simplified and free of charge "model of recovery scheme" for up to 3 cities, selected with due regard to the geographic distribution. The model used in the Compendium will be applied in a simplified manner.

Please APPLY HERE with one page description of your request.

Registration

Our event will be held online, please register directly on our website.